LONDON, July 24.—Berlin reported that the German army had lost Siedlce, big rail junction 50 miles due east of Warsaw, to Russian mobile forces racing toward the martyred Polish capital at an unprecedented pace.

Nazi broadcasts indicating that the German defences across Poland had fallen completely apart also said the Nazis had evacuated Jaroslav, rail hub 170 miles southeast of Warsaw and 60 miles northwest of Lwow.

Allies, Nazis Prepare For Major Encounter

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, July 24.—(CP)—The Allies were massing their forces today for new drives to push beyond the Normandy beachhead and only two minor engagements were reported all along the 100-mile front following earlier small gains by British and Canadian units.

Eight miles east of Caen British Tommies pushed into the western edge of Troarn, ran into stiff resistance and fell back to the railway station just west of this gateway to the great port of Le Havre. South of Maltot, five miles southwest of Caen, artillery successfully engaged German tanks and armored troop carriers, a headquarters spokesman said, adding there was nothing more to report.

A despatch from the Canadian sector reported the front was so

Says Reich's Fate Is on Battlefield

MOSCOW, July 24.—(AP)—Ilya Ehrenburg, one of Russia's best-known authors, declared yesterday that so much matter was happening in Germany, her fate will be decided on the battlefield by her enemies, and not at home by her generals. "It is to be expected that the Germans will understand everything when we reach the gates of Berlin," he said.

Regain Control Nazis Press Merciless Blood Purge in Reich

LONDON, July 24.—Two high-ranking members of the German general staff died of wounds suffered in the attempted bomb-planting of Adolf Hitler last week, the DNB news agency revealed today, as the Nazi party seized virtual control of the Wehrmacht and pressed a merciless purge of rebellious Junkers and landowners.

DNB announced that Col. Gen. Günther Korten, chief of the Luftwaffe general staff, and Maj. Gen. Heinz Brandt, operational officer on the army general staff, died of injuries received when a bomb exploded in Hitler's headquarters last Thursday.

Heinrich Berger, described as Hitler's "collaborator" and reported to have served as the fuhrer's "double," also was killed by the explosion.

10 OTHERS INJURED
Ten other members of Hitler's staff were injured and the fuhrer himself was slightly wounded in the attack, which apparently climaxed

The Red Army also was reported by Berlin to have reached the area of Kolomyja, Polish rail town on the upper Prut river guarding the nearby approaches to the Carpathian passes into Czechoslovakia.

The Nazi admission that Siedlce had fallen, laying open the way for a Soviet spurt across the Polish plains to Warsaw, represented one of the most sensational advances scored by the Red Army in its summer offensive.

35 MILES IN DAY
Siedlce is 60 miles west of Brest Litovsk and about 35 miles beyond the last Russian position in that sector as reported by Moscow yesterday, indicating an advance of approximately that distance in a single day.

A Berlin military commentator reported that the German garrison of Lwow, greatest base in lower Poland, was "compressed in the centre of the city"—an apparent acknowledgment that the Red army had encircled the big fortress and trapped the Nazis who tried to hold out too long.

A Moscow dispatch of the British United Press, which from all fronts Soviet correspondents reported that the Red Army was stepping up its advance, without the slightest sign that the ever more desperate

Favors Increased Judicial Salaries

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent said today in the Commons he did not agree with those who stated that to qualify for appointment to the bench in Canada a man had to be defeated as a candidate for public office.

Replying to John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), Mr. St. Laurent said he took pride in the appointments he made to the bench, especially in the higher courts.

The judiciary in Canada was held in high regard by the Canadian public, but it was known that some judicial reforms were necessary, said Mr. St. Laurent.

He agreed that judges' salaries should be increased in order to attract to the bench the ablest lawyers. It was only in the last quarter of a century that salaries on the bench ceased to be comparable with those for other comparable positions.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke during passage of a resolution to a bill which would allow judges to divide their annuity with their wives or to provide that their widows receive a pension. The bill was given first reading following passage of the resolution.

LONDON, July 24.—German robot bombs spread death and destruction across southern England again today, ending a brief lull in the attack during which rescue squads worked speedily to recover victims of a heavy bombardment that rocked the countryside almost ceaselessly over the week-end.

Relatively few of the projectiles fell in London and the southern coastal areas during the night and the bombing halted briefly during the early daylight hours.

Later, however, the attack was resumed and damage and casualties were caused in a number of areas.

British Peer Visiting City

Lord Sempill, British peer, who is in Edmonton conferring on war services matters with Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., E.D., special commissioner for Northwest defence projects.

Lord Sempill Lauds Canadian Facilities For Recreation of Troops

Canada is doing a marvellous job in providing recreational facilities for members of the armed forces both overseas and at home, according to Lord Sempill, co-ordinator of National War Services, who is in Edmonton conferring with Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, C.M.G., D.S.O., E.D., special commissioner for north west defence projects.

Lord Sempill said he was discussing the whole range of War Services with Major General Foster, who had charge of the establishment of the services in Britain prior to his present appointment. He said that both Major General Foster and Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton took the keenest interest in the war services organization, and quoted General McNaughton as saying that "the welfare of the soldier was his first consideration." He recalled that when the services were being organized, General McNaughton outlined his requirements and asked how long it would take to provide them. Given a date on which they would be forthcoming, General McNaughton said "if the facilities required are not provided by that date I will get them from other sources."

The National War Services organization met all the requirements, Lord Sempill said, and has continued to meet the ever expanding demand for these services.

Supervisory personnel went ashore with troops at Sicily, Italy and in Normandy, and within a matter of hours the huts of the four services—the Y.M.C.A., Canadian Legion, Salvation Army and the Knights of Columbus—were in operation.

He said the endeavor of these services is to provide recreational facilities for the men of the forces to take them as far as possible from the war atmosphere when they have leave.

HEAVY DEMANDS
He said his present tour to the West was connected with planning for the heavy demands which the invasion of France will bring to the war services.

Lord Sempill will leave Monday evening for Calgary on his way to

Churchill Says Britain Fights For Honor Only

LONDON, July 24.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Canadian airmen at an all-Canadian airfield in Normandy that hopes of victory "are sure" and said "we seek nothing that is not our own."

"We have fought for honor and we seek no reward," he said, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Courtenay Edwards. "We seek no territory; we desire no oilfields; we seek nothing that is not our own."

RETAIN "OUR OWN"
"But what is our own in the Commonwealth—that we don't want any other people to express an opinion about. That we will firmly retain."

The dispatch said the airmen he addressed, during his three-day visit to the Normandy bridgehead, included Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, English-born leader of an R.C.A.F. fighter wing (Wing Cmdr. Johnson commands the City of Edmonton Squadron.)

Two Political Speeches Bring Sharp Clashes

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—The Quebec election campaign entered the Commons again today when Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, clashed with Justice Minister St. Laurent in connection with two political speeches.

After some verbal exchanges, Mr. St. Laurent promised to read press accounts of a speech by Jacques Dumoulin, Liberal member of the Quebec legislature, who was reported to have told a political rally on the Isle of Orleans that he had assured military exemption of farmers in his riding.

Dumoulin also was quoted as having said: "I have done everything possible in order that you may forget that there is a war on and that we have got mobilization."

Mr. St. Laurent said that in the meantime investigation was continuing in connection with a speech made by Jacques Sauriol, Montreal newspaperman, quoted as having

Prime Minister Visits Normandy

"Grave Signs of Weakness" In Reich Seen by Churchill; Hints End May Be Nearing

LONDON, July 24.—(CP)—In the first official Allied word on the crisis in Germany Prime Minister Churchill said during a visit to Normandy yesterday there are "grave signs of weakness" in the Reich and predicted the war "might come to an end earlier than we have a right to say."

While roundabout reports told of a purge of German generals and the wholesale shakeup in commands, Mr. Churchill asserted: "There are grave signs of weakness in Germany. They are in a great turmoil inside and none can measure the extent."

Mr. Churchill spoke to about 500 men who surrounded him after his plane landed at an R.A.F. flying field in Normandy. He summed up Germany's internal crisis in these words:

POWER CRUMBLING
"Opposite you is an enemy whose central power is crumbling."

An Editorial First Choice Votes Elect!

Many excellent candidates, of all parties, are now appealing for your vote. The issue in this election is not one of this or that individual candidate. The issue is whether the Manning Government with a fine record, on behalf of the farmers in particular, is to carry on or be defeated.

Premier Ernest Manning has more progressive legislation to his credit than any other government in Canada. He is pledged to carry on the fight for monetary reform and is the only premier who submitted a brief to Ottawa on how to finance the vast changes necessary in post war reconstruction. That brief was so timely and to the point that not one word of criticism has been heard against it.

First choice votes will definitely decide this election and make no mistake about it! The results in 1935 and 1940 show that in only two instances was there a change due to the second choice transferable votes, in the 47 single member constituencies. Social Credit won 1 and lost 1. The net result was the same.

In Edmonton and Calgary, with 5 members each, under proportional voting, no party can win all seats. When the legislature was dissolved, Calgary had 2 Social Credit, 2 Independent and 1 Liberal. Edmonton had 2 Social Credit, 1 Independent, 1 Liberal, and 1 CCF.

Second choice votes only will not elect one candidate out of the 57 to be elected.

First choice votes elect!

THINK and then VOTE August 8th.

People Must Decide Freedom, Economic Security Or Turn to State Socialism Election Stake Says Premier

Freedom and full economic security in the post-war years under a progressive Social Credit program, or the regimentation of state socialism will be the stake when Albertans go to the polls on August 8 to elect their next government, Premier Ernest Manning told an enthusiastic campaign rally at Westmount community hall Saturday night.

The premier referring to what he termed the "tinhorn" politicians, who are pouring into Alberta with their criticisms of the present administration, emphasized that the government stands on its record of social advance—and that "the party's heart was in the fight for the future... if the people wanted it."

Leading Social Credit candidates in the Edmonton riding at two meetings Saturday—the second being held in the Varsity Tuck Shop—Mr. Manning stressed that the eyes of all Canada will be on this province on election day. Albertans, he said, will then decide if the Social Credit party which they launched 10 years ago will continue as their "alternative" to the old order, or whether they will choose socialism.

CANDIDATES SPEAK
The government candidates who also addressed both meetings are N. B. James, member of the last Legislature; Orvis A. Kennedy, Harry D. Carrigan and J. B. Gillies.

The people of Alberta made their decision for a new party 10 years ago, said the premier, and today that party is known around the world for its leadership, its courage and its determination. On August 8 it is up to the people to reaffirm their wholehearted support of the Social Credit movement or go socialist, he said.

"Large numbers of people frankly say they do not want socialism, but many see it as the only alternative for the old way of life," he

Damage of $40,000 In Prison Blaze At Medicine Hat

MEDICINE HAT, July 24.—(CP)—Damage estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000 was caused by fire which swept through two large barracks blocks inside the prison-of-war compound in the prison camp near here Sunday.

Col. R. O. Bull, M.C., camp commandant said this morning no prisoners were injured, and that they had turned in willingly to help fight the blaze. There was no hint the fire had been purposely set, he said, as the bulk of the equipment and stores destroyed was the property of the prisoners themselves.

Taking No Action

OTTAWA, July 24.—(BUP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today indicated to parliament that he does not intend to take any action in connection with the dismissal of Senator T. D. Bouchard as chairman of the Quebec Hydro Commission.

Chinese Attack Jap Stronghold

CHUNGKING, July 24.—(AP)—Chinese troops are attacking the Japanese stronghold of Siangsiang in northern Hunan province and have thrown back other Japanese forces which again penetrated Chinese positions in Hengyang, the Canton-Hankow railway city 60 miles in the south, the Chinese high command said last night.

A communique said fighting continued with unabated fury at Hengyang, and indicated the Chinese were trying to smash the enemy encirclement ring in the southwest, hitting at Japanese positions there and reaching to a southwest suburb.

Chinese forces were reported mopping up east, west and south of Siangsiang, western anchor of a long enemy line north of the besieged rail junction.

Freedom, Economic Security Or Turn to State Socialism Election Stake Says Premier

Mr. Manning warned whatever the result of the voting may be, it will have a marked effect outside the boundaries of this province.

NO "MUD THROWING"

Mr. Manning stated at the beginning of his talk that "not going to throw mud at anybody. I am going to keep personalities out of it. If the opposition wants to, that's their responsibility. I want no part of it."

He continued: "Social Credit is founded on the principles of true political and democratic philosophy; socialism is where the state is supreme and man but a cog in the wheel."

"People know if the administration is to their liking, and sound judgment must be based on truth."

It would be the government selected in this province which would handle post-war decisions in Alberta, and there would be entrusted to that government the most serious things of the last 25 years.

HOPE END IS NEAR

"We all hope that we are near the end of this war; then we will be into the post-war years. There will be a tremendous responsibility on the shoulders of any government during the period of rehabilitation," he added.

Alberta under the Social Credit government is known as a leader in advancements made in public services—public health, social services and education. The latter, said the speaker, was recognized as a model by other provinces in Canada and by all the states of the Union.

"Tenth politicians are running into Alberta from all over Canada, telling us what to do in the way of making progress . . . and the new Saskatchewan government, patterned after their scholastic system after that of this province comes here to tell us we have made no progress. Consistency in politics is a pretty rare jewel," the speaker said.

"It is known across Canada today that the Alberta government built roads, every mile of which was paid for the day it was finished. We did not go into debt, nor did we borrow one dollar on it."

FREEDOM, SECURITY

A government should exist only to give the people the results they

No doing—no nasty harsh purgatives. Here's all you do—if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Simply eat KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. Accusations of the opposition were denied by N. B. James, M.L.A., who said they do "nothing but accuse this government of all kinds of crimes."

"Mr. Roper, self-styled next premier of Alberta, accused us of betraying Social Credit principles in Alberta. He says the things we fought for have been pushed aside, that we are tied-in with the '50 Big Shots'. That accusa-want, and the Social Credit party was founded to carry on an unceasing fight to remove the bottleneck of finance and to permit men a full measure of economic security, maximum individual liberty and individual freedom.

"We have to realize, as we look into the future, that if we are to escape a repetition of conditions of the past, we must remove these conditions. Merely saying things must be different won't make them different. If we want different conditions after the war, we must remove the conditions that caused the war," declared Mr. Manning.

People want two things, he continued. They want economic security and individual freedom. People generally are fed up with the old way of life, and there is general agreement in Canada that no one wants to return to pre-war conditions which caused business stagnation, unemployment, insecurity and poverty.

HEART IS IN FIGHT

"The Social Credit government is putting its heart into all efforts to continue the fight for financial reform, and to remove the conditions which caused the depression before the war. . . . The people of Alberta must be removed far from poverty," Mr. Manning asserted.

He said that under the present monetary system, not enough money was being paid with which to buy what the country produces.

"We destroyed our surplus and man can go back to work now, for trade wars end up in real wars. It is a disgraceful paradox, privation and want amid plenty," he said.

Mr. Manning told his listeners that the Social Credit government had an "intensive and progressive program for the future," if the people wanted it.

TRUE DEMOCRACY

"We will show the rest of Canada that we have a true political and economic democracy, that we will continue to stand by what we fight for . . . we will let the Canadian people know that we have the other alternative to state socialism, and they will look to this province as the leader, as they are doing today."

"A democratic government is not one which dictates. It exists to give the people the results they want, and the proper administration of their affairs."

"It has a responsibility to the electorate: it owes it to the people to give a complete report on its stewardship so they can make an honest decision."

GUARD OWN RIGHTS

"The people," concluded Mr. Manning, "are the only safeguards of their own rights, and governments cannot safeguard them if they don't care. The people are the only instruments who can be used for the destruction of their rights."

Accusations of the opposition were denied by N. B. James, M.L.A., who said they do "nothing but accuse this government of all kinds of crimes."

"Mr. Roper, self-styled next premier of Alberta, accused us of betraying Social Credit principles in Alberta. He says the things we fought for have been pushed aside, that we are tied-in with the '50 Big Shots'. That accusation is utterly and completely stupid, absolutely false, for not one single principle that Social Credit advocated in 1935 has been gone back on.

"Everybody knows differently. We have fought, and still fight, for all the people of Canada."

"One of our bitterest opponents, the worst we ever had, was the Canadian Unity Association. Do you know who its secretary was?" Mr. Elmer Roper.

AGAINST THE PEOPLE

"Mr. Roper and his party say they are reformers, that they are for the people. They are against the people," Mr. James averred.

The impression was going around that Social Credit was confined to Alberta in Canada, Orvis A. Kennedy stated to the gathering. He added that he could tell something different after being in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. Not until he had visited those provinces did he realize how far Social Credit had gone in Canada since 1935.

The people in those provinces are asking for information about Social Credit health services in Alberta, Ontario, thought to have had the best school system in the dominion, is asking how the system works in Alberta.

"The other party will wipe out all these changes; its head said he is going to take over the Calgary Power company. He has said he will borrow $20,000,000 to buy it, in spite of the wishes of the people."

DEBT IS REDUCED

From 1935 to 1944, the Social Credit government did not borrow one cent. In fact, the provincial debt was reduced by almost $20,000,000. And people demanded a pay - as - you - go - and - not - borrow - again plan in 1940.

"The speaker stated that it was no trouble to get money for a war economy, but it was different when it came to a peace economy."

"We don't want any more depressions, the root of which lies in our financial system. Depressions are man-made and they are man-cured."

"Housing is needed all over the country, but we in Alberta cannot get it because the financial interests have blackballed the province."

FIGHT FOR SECURITY

Mr. Gillies said that to stop the CCF here would give added impetus to Social Credit. "We are fighting for security and freedom so our boys returning from overseas will not have to go to war again," he concluded.

Wellesley Fraser acted as chairman of the Westmount community hall gathering.

Godbout Brands Bouchard Traitor

ST. JOSEPH D'ALMA, Que., July 24.—(CP)—Premier Godbout said in a political speech here Saturday that Senator T. D. Bouchard, former chairman of the Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission, "will never again" hold a Quebec government post because "he is a fanatic and a traitor to his own people."

The premier said that Onesime Gagnone, Union Nationale member of the legislative assembly for Matane, had told his constituents that Senator Bouchard "had an understanding" with the premier and that he would receive another government appointment after the Quebec general election on Aug. 8 if the Liberals were returned to

WANT HOMEOWNERS

The policy of the Social Credit government is not to plan, said Harry D. Carrigan. Planners always have socialistic tendencies, and they always plan to impose those plans on somebody else. Social Credit's aim was one of reconstruction, he added.

There were two different types of philosophy, he continued: Christian and democratic and totalitarian.

The former upholds the sanctity of the individual and his family and says their freedom be not curtailed.

Totalitarian philosophy, on the other hand, denies the sanctity of the individual, his family and their freedom, and also denies a person the right to hold anything. Only the state is considered.

Freedom, said the speaker, is a very hard thing won; it is a hard thing to regain.

"If you vote for Social Credit you will not have voted anything but a Christian and democratic form of government," he concluded.

THOUSANDS FRUSTRATED

The old financial system frustrated thousands of people, declared J. B. Gillies. Frustration made them desperate.

The speaker stated that it was no trouble to get money for a war economy, but it was different when it came to a peace economy.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., July 24.

—(CP)—Senator T. D. Bouchard said last night he would not return to the employ of the Quebec government "in any capacity."

Senator Bouchard, formerly chairman of Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission, said he had no arrangement with the premier.

He would not comment on Premier Godbout's remark that he was a "fanatic" except to say that "you will find there are a great number of Canadians who share my views."

He referred to his maiden speech in the Senate concerning the influence of the Jacques Cartier Society.

Salmon was named "salmo" by the Romans who took it from the Latin word meaning "to leap."

Hitler's Trousers Blown Off!

STOCKHOLM, July 24.—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter said yesterday "very concrete rumors" in Berlin were that a German "teller mine," placed under a map desk in Hitler's headquarters, caused the explosion that slightly injured the Fuehrer Thursday.

Another Swedish correspondent telephoned that the explosion blew off Hitler's trousers as well as those of the whole party of 14 standing around the map table. Hitler, said the correspondent, changed his uniform, and when Mussolini arrived a short time later for a conference he held up the ragged pants to show the Duce what had happened.

Hitler was said to have been wounded in the right shoulder and back, and had his hair singed.

"It doesn't matter," he was quoted, "because my barber always fails to cut my hair short enough."

He was described as "the calmest man in the group."

High Interest Piling Up Debt Of Alta. Farms

WAINWRIGHT, Alta., July 24.

—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said in an address here Saturday night that "it is taking a world war to help the prairie farmer out of the red, and even then the war will not be enough."

Poor prices, unplanned markets, lack of adequate crop insurance, extortionate interest rates, and monopoly prices for machinery supplies all had played a part in burdening the prairie farmer with debt, said Mr. Coldwell.

DEBT INCREASED

The number of "debt-ridden" farms in Alberta had increased in the 10 years from 1931 to 1941.

"If we talk into a post-war depression, who can say whether any prairie farmers will be secure in the possession of their farms?" he continued. "This must not be allowed to happen."

The total mortgage debt for the province had decreased in the 10 years, but this was not the whole story as farm values, including buildings, machinery, and livestock, had declined by 19 per cent in the period.

"After 10 years of what some people call progress the province of Alberta is actually poorer," said Mr. Coldwell.

A way had been found of making economic progress in peace as in war.

"Under the iron compulsion of war we have seen how economic planning, however imperfectly administered, can end unemployment and raise farm prices," he continued.

"If this lesson is not to be completely wasted we must be prepared to do as much in the post-war years. Socialist planning for use in peace as in war can usher in that age of abundance for which science has laid the foundations."

Godbout Regime Is Said Agency Of Federal Govt.

ST. PASCAL DE KAMOURASKA, Que., July 24.—(CP)—Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale leader, addressing a political rally in this Kamouraski county town last night said that Premier Adelard Godbout "has made the Quebec government a simple agency of the federal government."

Mr. Duplessis referred to immigration and said the province had "definite" rights in the matter.

"The Union Nationale party believes in the policy of Canada for Canadians, and Quebec for Quebecers," he said.

"Those who at this time preach a program of immigration are traitors to those they sent overseas to fight and to those they moved around from place to place in different war industries."

Water Goes to War!

... Water is vital to every phase of our war effort . . . to industry producing the tools of war, to all modes of transportation delivering those tools to the battle fronts and to our fighting men and their fighting machines. Water must be controlled, moved, stored, put to work . . . and in each of the operations pumps play an essential part. Because Paramount Pumps proved their efficiency and rugged dependability in time of peace, practically our entire output has been called upon for essential wartime applications. That is why, sometimes, we are unable to fill the demand for Paramount Pumps for general purposes. But we know that you will agree, vital war production must come first—Victory must be won.

Public Health Services

Alberta, under the Manning Government, leads Canada and is outstanding on the North American continent in the field of public health.

Free hospitalization, medical and clinical services are provided for tubercular patients. In 1942, more than 9,000 outpatients were examined and 794 were treated in sanatoria.

Free hospitalization for diagnostic purposes, X-ray, radium and surgical treatment are provided for all cancer patients. More than 2,000 patients were examined in 1942 and 429 were given treatment.

Free hospital and medical care is provided for infantile paralysis patients. The death rate from this disease in 1942 was nil.

Since April 1, 1944, free public ward hospital care for all maternity cases has been in effect.

Since 1935, the number of district nurses has been more than doubled. In 1942, nearly 28,000 cases were treated by these nursing services.

Free travelling clinic services supplement the work of district nurses. 3,593 patients were examined in 1942; 2,593 patients were treated.

Health units in the province were only two in 1935. In 1944 there were nine. Through sanitation, examination of school children, baby clinics, etc., the health units prevent ill-health within the unit. Plans are ready to extend this service to cover the entire province after the war.

All this is good, sound progressive government.

Voters will consider these facts when they go to the polls on August 8.

Surprised

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has announced that Canada will not be represented at the United Nations conference to be held shortly in Washington to discuss a plan for world security after the war.

This decision will surprise many Canadians who will feel that this country is quite as great a factor in world security as China, for instance, which has been invited to the conference.

No one wishes to minimize China's contribution to the war. Certainly, no one can minimize her sufferings and sacrifices. But surely Canada, standing geographically between Russia and the United States, and standing socially, politically and culturally between Britain and the United States, is in a much more key position in the matter of world security than the Chinese people who have not yet achieved unity among themselves.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, of course, is willing to stand aloof from the conference of the so-called big four in order to emphasize his ambition to make Canada the leader of the smaller nations. It is an interesting ambition and it may be a valuable one. But there is such a thing as Canada retiring herself so vigorously from higher councils of the nations that she will retire herself out of the international picture entirely.

Blind Pensioners

Captain M. C. Robinson, national director for Western Canada of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, has stated in Edmonton that considerable disappointment has been felt over the failure of the Federal Government to deal this session with projected legislation designed to improve the position of blind pensioners.

There is no doubt, of course, that this legislation has been overlooked rather than suppressed. It is natural that a good many important matters should be shoved aside in the priority given to war administration.

But this matter of according justice to blind pensioners should not yield priority to anything. It is something that touches not only the conscience of the Canadian people, but the civilization of the Canadian people.

What would be the use of winning a war for world civilization and at the same time degrading our national civilization by neglecting those items of social justice which sustain our right to be called civilized?

Waterpowers Too

The federal department of agriculture is to be commended for its announced $100,000,000 program of irrigation and drainage in Western Canada. It is to be hoped that this project will not be shoved aside when the war is over.

But while any proposal to increase the area of productive land in the West is worthwhile, any such program of production should be complemented by a parallel program of manufacture.

So far as any particular community is concerned, the production of raw materials represents only a fraction of the profits intrinsic in the manufacture of those raw materials. And western prosperity depends not only on production but on all the stages of manufacture.

In other words, a product completed in Edmonton, for instance, is worth from five to ten times as much to the community, as the production of the raw materials alone.

For this reason, any expenditure designed to increase agricultural production loses half its value unless it is accompanied by transportation developments and, above all, by the facilities for cheap manufacture.

If Ottawa is going to give the West more arable land, let it also give the West funds for the development of waterpowers and the cheap and efficient transportation of power.

There are tremendous potential waterpowers in the area north of Edmonton. The development of these would add billions to the economic value of Alberta.

What Kind of Justice?

It is reported that there is considerable uneasiness in occupied Europe over the kind of justice that will be meted out to war criminals. The invaded countries are aware that the Allied leaders have promised stern retribution to those of the enemy who have brutally flouted international law and human decency. But they wonder if the real criminals will be punished or if only spectacular gestures will be made.

This speculation is not confined to the subject peoples of Europe. There is plenty of wondering about it right here at home.

For instance, those who believe that the guilt trials will be Wagnerian spectacles, with the heads of Hitler and Mussolini and other great malefactors falling into a basket to the accompaniment of dramatic music, have little understanding of the real task involved.

For, as the Russians have discovered, the German war criminal is not only the super-Nazi who sits behind a desk in Berlin and orders massacres carried out by pitying and reluctant soldiery, but the soldiery themselves. The Russians have found out that the common Nazi trooper not only performs acts of cruelty with little reluctance but with actual relish.

It does not do to forget that the taint of Nazism has crept down through every rank of society. Indeed the saying is common in England that while the bestiality of Prussian junkerism, in the first Great War, arose from the officer caste, Nazism has its brutal beginnings in the sergeants' mess.

If justice is to be worked on Nazi war criminals, it will have to be complete justice. Every act of brutality will have to be paid for. It will not do to execute a few outstanding criminals and have them suffer vicariously for all the rest.

Roosevelt's Place in History

Came to Power at Same Time as Hitler Did in Germany

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Democratic convention has been as cut and dried as the Republican, as far as the presidential nominee is concerned. The platform is also decided by the fact that the president runs again. It is continuity of his policy. Even the vice president must be acceptable to the president.

But whether or not the president is re-elected, as of the present date I believe he will be, his place in history is assured. And it is unique, not primarily because he has served three terms and may serve four; but because it was his destiny to become president in a most extraordinary time in history.

Mr. Roosevelt became president at almost exactly the time that Adolf Hitler became chancellor of Germany, and I think it will be the judgment of history that he should survive in office his greatest enemy.

The rise of both men was the result of the same crisis—a terrible depression, resulting in vast unemployment. Social distress and disturbances had engulfed the whole world and especially the leading industrial nations such as the United States, Great Britain, and Germany.

Hitler was called to power by certain classes and groups in Germany, as the ultimate savior of their own privileges. His domestic function was to liquidate the unrest brewing among the jobless and disinherited by creating what he, or his theorists, called "Prussian Socialism"—the subjection of the people to a party-military-industrial oligarchy.

The casualties of this coup were the free traditional German structure: the constitution, all other parties, civil liberties, trade unions, courts and universities, and even free enterprise. The unavailing result of quasi-military socialism was the one thing for which it was eminently fitted—war. The creation of a military economy and a war discipline could not justify its existence in peace and, being bound like all social systems by the logic of its own structure, had to seek external expansion and domination.

Mr. Roosevelt's concept was almost exactly the opposite. He sought solutions for urgent problems within the traditional political and economic system. However his contemporaries may judge him, I am certain that he will go down in history as one of the greatest American conservatives. The fact is that after twelve years of his government we are holding a constitutional election in the middle of a war. Every political institution is intact. The economic structure is intact. The trade union movement is stronger than it was—bitter traditional. There has been a wider distribution of political and economic power, among the classes and regions of the people of this republic. But who will say that this is less American than the developments which took place after the civil war and in the first three decades of the twentieth century.

In these twelve years many experiments have been tried—some of them silly and numbers of them failures. But they have come and gone without creating convulsions or leaving permanent scars. The measures that have been all but universally accepted and will survive have followed the patterns set by progressive yet traditional evolutionary government through-out western civilization. Their success is measured by the fact that the most recent Republican platform embodies them. Perhaps there is no surer token of the President's unique performance than the fact that he even picks the Republican candidates, in the sense that no man can run for office today, except on a platform many of whose planks have been bewn out by F. D. R.

Yet it is unlikely that the president's statue in the American hall of fame will stand on the foundation of his domestic achievements. There was nothing in his domestic policy which led to war, and there was much designed to avert war and eliminate its causes, particularly economic. Mr. Hull steadfastly strove to open again

Monetary Reform Misunderstood

Business Men Slow to Appreciate Value to Them

From The Fundy Fisherman, Saint John, N.B.

It is quite incredible and were it not so tragic would be amusing, that men connected with the management of money or of business, should be so slow to admit any understanding of the principles of monetary reform.

Almost invariably they bracket together as being identical, the nationalization of banking as advocated by the C.C.F. and the resumption of the sovereign right of control of money (including credit) advocated by the Social Credit party and many other agencies who have made a study of this subject, including the Fundy Fisherman. We decidedly do not want the business of banking nationalized. That, in a democracy where free enterprise is encouraged should be the business of the chartered banks. The manufacture and issue of money however is a sovereign right and should not be given to a private monopoly.

The tragic side of this particular bit of reactionary blindness is that the country is rapidly running toward the nationalization of banking regardless of success or non-success in C.C.F. politics, for with the holding of immense sums of government debt by the banks, the time is approaching when banks and government must become synonymous in the money business. Are not government securities now the greater part of Bank Assets? To prevent this merging of government and banking is one of the urgent reasons for monetary reform.

There seems to be considerable mystery about the management of money as manufactured today. Experts argue about the effect of deposits and indeed as to what may be termed a deposit. A few years ago a prominent bank official told of the careful lending of the people's deposits but at once other just as conservative authorities came forward to show that the people's deposits were not lent but were the base upon which the bank made its own loans. Likewise, one finance minister declared that the chartered banks could pay every liability without recourse to the government's taking over securities or issuing new money outright, cross-questioned, another—who really knew finance since he was a high official in Canadian finance—could tell of no way the chartered banks could pay in full without intervention of government. (This is no reflection on the strength of the banks but goes to show the attitude of mind even a great man may preserve, and that credit as used for money really belongs to Parliament or the people.) Perhaps that finance minister who said "I know nothing about money," felt himself well equipped for his job!

Recently some have said in effect, "We want to be shown." They cannot be shown if they keep their eyes shut, minds closed. This may be conducive to comfort, but not toward honest thinking.

The war has shown many details as to the management of money. For instance, it has always been said we would have inflation if government were given the right to print money as needed—but during these war years money and industry has been kept on an even basis by control of industry and spending. The reverse could be true in a time of free enterprise in peace years, by keeping money in tune with production. It would need only a fraction of the labor and workers now to prevent inflation. Our war controls have proven it can be done—

What we ask is simple—Mr. King promised it in his final speeches in the campaign of 1935—a control of currency and credit. The latter we can have only if the government—through a monetary commission—manufactures and issues this credit money without cost to itself, other than the bookkeeping costs. We have the machinery for this change in the Bank of Canada. Money for government use would be interest-free—gradually as production increased the government debt could be reduced, and if industry indicated it could be eliminated. The details could be determined gradually once the foundation was made right. In such a system the only need for government debt or taxation, is the regulation of money in industry. Neither would be essential for government expenditure. The chartered banks would carry on with their own and their depositors money, only if industry wished to borrow more from them than that they would have to arrange loans from the Bank of Canada even as the Government gets loans from them today. The intolerable load of interest on public debt would be removed. Finance would be on a stable foundation and "where is the money to come from" need be heard no more with regard to national matters. Instead, we might ask, "Have we labor and materials?" or "Is the project worth the expenditure of resources and manpower?"

The fundamental change must be complete, but the details can be worked out quite gradually. There need be little ado in the change-over though the results will be far-reaching in their effects.

There is little doubt but that the private banking industry could grow to new heights in service to the nation, because of the impetus given industry.

Who can tell just how industry is going to develop or what its needs will be? A right foundation in our management of money will allow finance to develop as it should a servant of industry. 100 years ago a Bank Act in England was passed limiting the issue of bank-notes but even then the bank-note money was fading and cheque-book money was a lusty infant. Who can prophesy for the next 100 years? But we can "do justly" and the elimination of unpayable debt is an obligation we owe posterity. The Bible, and Arithmetic are both "agin it". How can the reactionary hope to beat that combination.

The Sad Decline of Mustard

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The statesmen, politicians and economists all seem to have overlooked one of the major problems of the war. Even the public, I regret to say, is singularly indifferent to it. I mean, of course, the decline of mustard.

Before the war mustard was a simple article of commerce. It had no complicated traditions and it involved no controversies. You did not argue about it, as of the virtues of old wine or tobacco. You just bought mustard. Then the chemists, pursuing their ruthless campaign to reorganize the world in their test tubes, finally discovered mustard. That was the end of it. Having exhausted every other field of human development, having made automobiles out of soy beans and sausage casings out of pine trees, the chemists had nothing else to do. So they applied their devilish ingenuity to mustard.

The results were first detected by an investigator whose modesty forbids me to name. Suffice it to say that this investigator suddenly died, about two years ago, that mustard no longer retained its fine old virgin flavor but had been polluted by the addition of some harmless drug which the chemists had added to improve its taste. I cannot describe this ingredient except to say that it tastes like the smell of expensive perfume. Now perfume is all right in its place, on a beautiful lady, but not in a mustard pot. Glamour should not be added to roast beef. Sex appeal should be forgotten when you sit down to enjoy a baked ham. Women should be kept out of it altogether, except in the cooking.

No lover of mustard will eat the modern improvement. The real palates of the nation have given up eating mustard altogether. As mustard is essential to the consumption of many meats, these men of taste have practically stopped eating, and are slowly starving to death for their principles. No body gives them any credit, for it suddenly appears, on serious study, that the nation at large has no palate at all and actually likes the glamorous new mustard. The manufacturers of mustard, therefore, need have no fear of losing business. The public has accepted glamour with its dinner.

This is a discovery shocking to sensible men, but its truth is proved by all the public opinion polls. This investigator personally has studied the people's reaction from coast to coast. He has followed the scent of mustard across the entire continent, sniffing it like a hound dog. And in countless restaurants, hotels and dining-cars he has sought out the opinion of the Canadian people by skillful and insinuating questions.

Without prejudicing the public by expressing an opinion himself, with the deceptive innocence which all poll-takers must cultivate, he has asked casually what the man across the table thinks about the mustard. It turns out that he has never thought about it at all and is surprised to be asked. This in itself is a serious sign of decadence, for, as Dr. Johnson said, or should have said, a man who does not think of mustard seldom thinks of things.

Our prime ministers live more private lives. But it is undoubtedly more pleasant for the prime minister himself and allows him to think and to work in a more nearly normal atmosphere.

all; and while Charles Lamb confessed that he had no ear, he proved the virtues of his palate in his immortal struggle with roast pork. Classical study will reveal that the history of our British race is largely built around mustard, but the Canadian citizen has stopped thinking about it.

And when he does think about it, when he is plying with questions, when he is told frankly that the chemists have spoiled the mustard, a still more disquieting fact is disclosed. For the man across the table, sampling the mustard on his tongue, says, if he is honest, that he cannot see anything wrong with it.

Hence the deep despair of the world's future among the Canadians who know mustard when they taste it. There are not many of them, about half a dozen, according to my latest reckoning. We have rushed together in brotherhood and formed a secret lodge, and when any man is discovered who will admit that mustard is not what it used to be he is embraced and enters the inner circle. It is our intention ultimately to bootleg the true elixir, if we can get it, to smuggle it secretly across international boundaries, to dispense it under cover of night in dark basements, to build up a mustard elite and then to move in and take over the government.

We do not go in for complicated national plans as the C.C.F. does. We do not intend to Make Your Canada. We just intend to make the people eat mustard, gain.

It is not a crusade to save the nation, but only to save the national palate. I confess that the national palate shows no special desire to be saved.

Florence is the most beautiful city in Europe. It has 10 per cent of the world's art treasures. We don't want to damage that beauty, but the Germans have been taking advantage of our laying off. If you can't hit the target, don't drop your bombs.—Air Force Lt.-Col. Joseph R. Hoizapple in Italy.

King Visits Toronto

From The Toronto Star

On Monday night in Toronto the Union Station, as usual, was jammed with people. Service men and women were there by the thousands going back to camp after a furlough. Civilians were there to see them off or to return to their homes themselves. In the midst of the throng, so unexpected and unobtrusive as to be recognized only by a few, was the Prime Minister of Canada, accompanied by one of his sisters and in Toronto to see his old friend, Sir William Mulock. Now he was on his way back to Ottawa.

A prime minister in Canada can be personally more democratic and has more privacy and freedom of movement than, for example, the President of the United States. The latter, by law, even in peacetime, or on private business, can never be without secret service men and armed protection.

At night, men must watch outside his bedroom where he sleeps in the White House or away from home.

Wherever he goes, a bodyguard accompanies him. Newspaper readers are familiar with photographs of Mr. Roosevelt in motor cars and on various trips. Always there are burly secret-service men on the running-board and others running alongside the car.

Even the nominee of a major party for the presidency is automatically given protection by the federal secret service as well as by the local and regular police forces. At the Chicago Republican convention last week, although there were hundreds of policemen on ordinary duty in the Stadium and its environs, no officer appeared on the rostrum until the arrival of Governor Dewey by plane from Albany to make his speech of acceptance. Then appeared a group of officers and bodyguards close to him on the platform. They stayed with him wherever he went in the city. Others like there and some of the same men, will be with him until election day.

City Resident Takes Own Life

The body of Mrs. Elsie Olyan, 52, of 11048 58 avenue, with the throat laid open by what appeared to have been a butcher knife, was discovered on the floor of her bedroom by her husband, Patrick Olyan, about 8:45 a.m. Sunday, according to city police.

Mrs. Olyan had been in ill-health for about a year, it was learned, and she had been seen last by her maid, Mary Bidlock, about 10 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Olyan occupied a room by himself, due to his wife's health, and he made his discovery when he entered her room in the morning.

A note, found near the body, stated the woman's intentions, it was said.

Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, chief provincial coroner, was notified, and ordered the body taken to the Connelly and McKinley funeral home.

Canadian Legion Picnic August 6

Plans for the annual picnic of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion were discussed at a general meeting in the Memorial Hall Sunday afternoon.

The picnic is to be held August 6 at 1:30 p.m. in Victoria Park picnic grounds. Members will have as their guests, children and dependents of active servicemen.

A program of sports is being arranged by Jack Jones and there will be prizes for the kiddies' events.

Buses have been secured to take picnickers from 109 street and 97 avenue, down to the grounds and will be on hand for the return trip.

Wives and children of all servicemen are particularly invited to attend. Tickets, which are furnished free of charge, must be shown at the grounds and may be secured at the office of the Canadian Legion any day between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon and 2 and 4 p.m.

Membership committee report showed an increase of 103 new members during July, bringing the total membership up to 1947. Of these new members, 72 are new veterans and 31 old veterans.

A report from the building committee stated that in view of the tremendous increase in membership it is hoped that proposed additions to the Memorial Hall will be underway before this winter.

About 300 members were present at the meeting.

President H. E. Tanner was in the chair.

Visitor in Hospital Following Fracas

George Foley, Wildwood, received two head cuts, one of which required stitches to close, after what police alleged was a fight in a 97 street cafe, about 10:45 p.m. Saturday. Foley was said to be on the floor of the restaurant when officers responded to a hurry-up call from the proprietor. The assailant had fled, and Foley was taken to Royal Alexandra hospital for attention.

Deciding Game Tuesday

Moose and N.W.S.R. Split In Men's Fastball Playoff

MOOSE and North West Staging Route broke even in the senior men's provincial fastball series games at Kingsway Park yesterday afternoon, N.W.S.R. taking the 12th inning opener 5-4 and Moose winning the second game of the thrilling doubleheader 7-0. The final of the best of three playoff will be staged Tuesday night at Kingsway.

A walk, a bunt by Bernie O'Connor, and out at the plate and a single by Ken Arley got Wally Green around the bases in the 12th inning opener for N.W.S.R., to end a real playoff battle.

Pete Pederian and Manny Fefferman hooked up in a tight pitching duel, but allowing a walk and two singles in the 12th was highly costly to the Moose chucker.

Moose led 3-2 going into the eighth, but the Airmen produced a pair of counters in the top half of the eighth to take a 4-3 lead. A run by Alex Yack in the Moose half of the eighth tied it up and then there was no scoring until Arley crossed the plate in the 12th.

STAGE COMEBACK TO SQUARE SERIES

Moose staged a real comeback in the second game and got four-hit pitching from Butts as they shut out the N.W.S.R. club 7-0.

The winners opened a 12-hit attack against Pederian and Kitt and played errorless ball in the field for a well earned victory. Jack Beaumeister led the hitting blitz with two safeties in three official trips to the plate while Eddie Goyan and Ken McAuley also were in good form with the stick to get two for four.

The Moose team set out to win right from the first inning when they scored two runs on three singles and an error to take the lead they held throughout.

Two singles, a walk, a pair of stolen bases and an error produced three in the second for the victors and from then on they were never in any real danger. At no time during this contest did the N.W.S.R. team stage a real threat.

Twilight Tear
Cops Rich Race
CHICAGO, July 24.—(AP)—Whether or not Twilight Tear competes in the $50,000-added Arlington Park handicap this Saturday, Warren Wright's amazing filly already has clinched "horse of the year" recognition.

The fleet three-year-old daughter of Bullies did that in no uncertain manner Saturday by waiting off with the $80,000 Arlington classic for her 11th straight victory, a feat believed unprecedented among American fillies.

A triumph in the Arlington handicap, to which 17 horses have been nominated, would officially bestow Twilight Tear with the horse of the year title, but there's a possibility that trainer Ben Jones will give the sensational filly a rest this week.

Mrs. Allan Scott$6,000 Prize Bungalow Is Won by City Woman

The winner of the War Services Council $6,000 bungalow, at the corner of 66 street and 112 avenue, was decided Saturday night at the close of the Gyro Carnival when the lucky ticket, No. 26511, held by Mrs. Allan Scott of 12219 128 street, was drawn before a capacity crowd by Harold L. Weir, president of the War Services Council for Northern Alberta.

Prior to the bungalow draw, two other tickets, for Victory bonds, were drawn. Ticket No. 52938, belonging to Mrs. Ernest Jolly of 10014 105 street, won a $500 bond and V. W. Zaumseil, of Vulcan, with ticket No. 104234 won a $1,000 bond.

Winners are advised that they must claim their prizes before midnight of July 29, or a new draw will be made.

Mrs. Scott had just finished ironing when she heard the announcer on the radio say the draw was to take place, so she sat down to listen.

HARD TO BELIEVE

"I was so surprised when my name was read that I just couldn't believe it, as I have never been lucky in anything like this before," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and five-year-old son, Donny, live in the Sherbrook district. Mr. Scott is a boilermaker for the Northern Alberta Railway. They lived in Vegreville until seven years ago when they moved to Edmonton.

No decision has yet been made as to what they will do with the bungalow. Already they have had many people try to rent or buy the place. Among the first telephone calls received Saturday night after the draw, was one from a real estate agent.

The entire bungalow project was under the direction of a bungalow committee of which G. H. Linney, vice-president of the War Services Council, was chairman. Mr. Linney was unable to attend the draw Saturday night as he was out of town.

Master of ceremonies for the drawing was Harold Wright, chairman of the entertainment board of the War Services Council. The first speaker introduced was Mrs. R. E. Jones, municipal regent of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.E., who thanked the stores and theatres for letting them sell tickets on their premises.

TO AID CHILDREN

Carnival chairman of the Gyro Club, Ted Richardson, gave a brief talk and explained that the proceeds from the carnival would go toward the improving and enlarging of children's playgrounds throughout the city.

M. Brock Smith conducted the drawing and outlined the terms, pointing out that relatives of directors and members of the War Services Council were disqualified.

Harold Weir acknowledged the assistance given by the I.O.E., Edmonton Gyro Club, Price Andrews Ltd. and Healy Motors for making space available for the carnival and the people of Edmonton and other parts of Alberta for their support in this, and previous draws.

Also mentioned was the work of the council which will be made possible by the proceeds of the raffle. Mr. Weir was then blindfolded by Mr. Brock Smith and drew the ticket stubs from the large red drum.

V.C.'S TO WIDOWS

LONDON.—(CP)—Widows of two V.C.'s killed in action, and the A.T.S. widow of a major of the Royal Armored Corps who won the George Cross, were given their husbands' decorations by the King at a recent investiture when His Majesty received relatives of 184 dead heroes of the services.

National Leader Of L.P. Party Outlines Policy

Voters in Alberta are being called upon to elect a new government on the eve of an United Nations' victory, a government which will have to deal with the tremendous post-war problem of maintaining the standard of life presently enjoyed by the people, Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive party, told a meeting Saturday night.

A capacity crowd of 500 heard his address in the main auditorium of the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Buck said he is convinced the level of average prosperity can be maintained if the people elect provincial and Dominion governments that will accept the fact that they have entirely new functions and responsibilities. "No province can stand alone," he said, "and the national view is most important in deciding provincial policies."

"After the war Canada is faced with the problem of finding markets for at least half of her present exports for war purposes," the leader said, "or we won't be able to maintain our present standard of living or national income. There must be co-operation between countries that have an exportable surplus, and under such conditions everything could be literally made over in 10 years. Devastated countries could be rebuilt and our own country would progress. When the war is over it is international co-operation or chaos."

He said Premier Manning's statement that the Labor-Progressive policies represented state dictatorship was "ridiculous."

"The only nation in the world which was able to stop Hitler's panzers was Russia. The United Nations almost immediately turned to planned economy as their only salvation, and after the war is over there is a need for planning in the economy of this country."

National income includes roads, rural electrification, natural resources, he said, and Alberta, as one of the potentially richest provinces in the Dominion should be able to provide comfort and prosperity for everyone.

MANY RESOURCES

"Alberta has seven per cent of all coal in the world, almost unlimited water power supply and almost unlimited oil. Development of these resources would provide employment in the transition from war to peace."

"I never before realized how backward 'progressive Alberta' is. There is practically no rural electrification and very few good roads. Farmers of Alberta produce a large percentage of the national income and roads are vitally necessary to the efficiency of farming," Mr. Buck stated.

"If we don't go forward," he said, "we will go back to conditions immeasurably worse than they were in 1939. Governments must realize the importance of social values and education."

The national leader pointed out to his audience that the present party policies did not represent socialism but that they were a step in the right direction.

"Our dreams of opportunity for our youth, freedom to enjoy living and security in our old age can only come when mankind generally accepts socialism."

CANDIDATES SPEAK

Also present on the platform were Labor Progressive candidates for Edmonton seats in the forthcoming provincial election, who addressed the meeting briefly. They are James A. MacPherson, provincial leader of the party, Alex Herd, William Halina, Jan Lakeman and Mrs. Grace Murdoch.

Mr. MacPherson said: "Mr. Cold-

CIVILIZATION?

LONDON.—(CP)—The alert signal flashed on the screen in a suburban theatre. In the distance a flying bomb crashed, and then another a little nearer. Immediately afterwards, a character in the movie said: "So this is what they call civilization!"

well and Mr. Roper of the C.C.F. party are deliberately lying in the present campaign for the sole purpose of securing votes. They deny there is any association between their party and the Bloc Populaire in Quebec, yet the people there are urged to vote CCF if they are not voting for Bloc Populaire.

"Mr. Coldwell says the CCF is similar to the Labor parties in Australia and New Zealand, yet it is against the Labor Progressive party."

"CCF and Bloc Populaire were the only two parties in the Commons to vote against overseas conscription. The leadership of the CCF should hang its head in shame when it says it represents what our boys are fighting for."

Alex Herd said the provincial government must co-operate with the federal government, that there could be no isolationists. "Trade unionists are proud of the part they have played in the war effort and have demonstrated by their unity that they realized the kind of fight they were in and were determined not to lose."

TASK OF PARTY

Jan Lakeman said the task of the party is to clear Alberta of Hitlerites and Fascists the way the Allied armies are clearing Europe, and urged that "not one Tory, Liberal or Independent, be elected to the provincial legislature."

Mrs. Grace Murdoch asked women voters to study policies of the party, to know what they wanted themselves and not just vote the way they were told.

William Halina addressed the meeting in Ukrainian.
A collection totalling $177.53 was taken up during the meeting.

Arrest Two Men After Alleged Knifing Affray

Two men were under arrest and a third was in hospital, after what city police termed a knifing affray on Saturday afternoon. These under arrest were Anton Cuitkovich, 10412 37 street, and William Petruk, Toronto rooms, 86 street.

The injured man was Mike Miskulin, Namas airport, who was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital suffering from knife wounds in the back and one forearm.

According to police, a quarrel between the two accused began in a hotel, and concerned some clothing. The two were said to have gone into the washroom, where the quarrel continued, and where Miskulin spoke to them. Then he became involved.

LEAVE PREMISES

The three men were then asked to leave the premises and they went on to the street, where, it is alleged, one of the accused twice plunged a pocket or hunting knife into Miskulin.

Not until about four hours after did police arrest Cuitkovich at his rooming place, at which time he made denial of the episode by himself.

Because he had received an eye injury, he was also taken to hospital for attention before being taken back to police headquarters.

ASSAULT CHARGES

Both accused are charged with assault, while another charge of assault has been laid against Petruk by Cuitkovich.

Appearing before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Monday morning, Petruk pleaded guilty to a charge of assault, while no plea was entered by Cuitkovich, charged with stabbing Miskulin with a knife.

The case was adjourned until Monday next, with bail of $500 being allowed for the first accused.

Shack Destroyed

Fire destroyed an old shack on the west bank of the river at 98 avenue at 9 p.m. Sunday. The building, valued at about $50, was a playing spot for children, whom it is believed, were responsible for the blaze. The place was owned by Joseph Armstrong.

Barney Oldfield, famed racing driver, never smoked, but never had a photograph taken unless he had a cigar in his mouth.

Law-Breaking Trio Held in Saskatoon

Quest for three run-away juveniles, who, city police claimed, were permitted to have their freedom after numerous offences in Edmonton and Calgary, came to an end Saturday when the trio were arrested by Saskatoon city police and charged with breaking and entering.

The boys, whose homes are in Calgary, Drumheller and Edmonton, previously stole a car here and went to Calgary. There they abandoned the Edmonton auto and helped themselves to one owned by a Calgary resident.

Returned to Edmonton by R.C.M.P., the boys were placed in a shelter, only to be allowed their freedom again, according to Detective Inspector H. B. Pelham. City officers were forced to take up another search and recent offenses in the city were attributed to the same trio.

The boys will appear before Saskatoon authorities.

Two Horses Die In Morning Fire

Two work horses were burned to death in an early Sunday morning fire of unknown origin, and harness, feeds, and log barn completely destroyed. The building was in flames when the owner, Stewart McInnis, 12122 St. Albert Trail, was awakened by the excited cackling of his chickens about 5 a.m. that day.

Three rigs and a tank wagon from city fire halls were called, but the entire structure was a fiery geyser by the time firemen arrived.

The building, of metal siding and roof, together with the contents, were said to have been covered by insurance.

THE QUESTION

What is your opinion of the proposal for a uniform history text-book to be used in the schools of all provinces in the Dominion?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. WILLIAM ROSE, housewife: There hasn't been sufficient understanding between the British and French elements in Canada and I think it would be a very good thing if a suitable book could be compiled. One that wouldn't give rise to further controversy. A carefully written book might bring about a better understanding.

JIM CRAWFORD, student: I never realized that we didn't all use the same history book to tell you the truth, I guess I just took it for granted there couldn't be more than one version of history. Certainly the move to have a uniform text would be a good one.

A. L. MARKS, lawyer: It is an excellent idea. History has been defined as 'this story' and no two agree. When a history which states the facts correctly is printed every province and the whole world should have advantage of it.

Vote on August 8 Alberta Election Voting Systems Are Explained

Proportional representation and single transferable ballot, two systems of voting in force in Alberta since 1926, will be used in the Aug. 8 provincial general election.

Under proportional representation, in the five-member Calgary and Edmonton constituencies only, a candidate to be elected must reach a fixed quota. This is done by dividing the total of first ballots by the total number of seats to be filled, plus one, and adding one to the quotient.

Under the single transferable ballot, used in the 47 single-seat ridings, no quota is necessary but a candidate to be elected must have a majority over all others combined. If a majority is not obtained on the first count, the candidate having the least number of first choices is eliminated and the ballots are allocated to others according to the second choice. This procedure is followed until one candidate has a clear majority.

LOW MAN ELIMINATED

In both systems the 'low man' after the first count is eliminated. Proportional representation also calls for the winner's surplus to be distributed as the count proceeds.

Voters indicate their choices by figures—1 for first, 2 for second, 3 for third, and so on. A voter is entitled to mark his ballot for all candidates in the order of his choice and in the two multiple-member constituencies choices often reach the 20-mark. At the last session of the legislature an amendment to the election act was passed allowing the marking of first choices with a cross instead of figures, as the voters preferred. Thereafter, numbers are to be used, such as 2, 3, 4, and so on.

Previously use of an 'X' disqualified the ballot.

Premier to Speak At Many Meetings

Leaving for southern Alberta by plane Monday morning to take part in the provincial election campaign, Premier Ernest Manning has started a tour of south and central Alberta points. He will return to the city briefly next Friday.

Mr. Manning's itinerary takes him to Foremost and Bow Island Monday; Medicine Hat, Tuesday; Picture Butte and Lethbridge, Wednesday; Macleod and Calgary, Thursday; Entwistle and Stony Plain, Friday; Ponoka and Red Deer, Saturday.

On Monday, July 31, the premier will fly to Grande Prairie. He plans to go on to Peace River on Tuesday, Aug. 1, returning to Edmonton for Wednesday and Thursday.

On Friday and Saturday, Aug. 4 and 5, Mr. Manning will speak at Olds, Calgary, and Lacombe. He will return to Edmonton to take part in a Social Credit rally to be held Monday night, Aug. 7, in the Masonic Temple.

2,564 Inspections Of Alberta Plants

A total of 2,564 inspections of industrial plants were made in the month of June by the staff members of the Board of Industrial Relations, according to a report issued Monday.

Collections to apply on wage adjustments made during the month amounted to $3,142, and 40 employees received wage increases. The total amount of weekly increases secured was $46.67.

Nine thousand four hundred and seventy-three employees were affected by inspections made by the board, while 833 interviews were held and 149 complaints received and investigated.

Youth Is Saved From Death by Electrocution

Thirteen-year-old Gordon Lutz, 9701 100A street, was in the Misericordia hospital suffering burns to his hands after receiving an electric shock about 8:45 p.m. Sunday at 97 avenue and 100A street.

He owes the saving of his hands, said city police, to the presence of mind of Gwen Reese, 9534 100 St., who pulled a thin wire the boy had thrown over a trolley wire, away from his hand.

Several boys had been playing at the intersection, police were told, when Gordon threw an untravelling broom wire over the power line above him. The streets were wet from rain, and the power passed through both his hands.

Miss Reese said she heard the screams of the other boys when they shouted that their companion had been electrocuted. Taking one of the boy's jackets, she seized the wire and pulled it out of Gordon's hands.

At the hospital it was found the boy had received severe burns across the palm of the left hand and on the right arm.

CCF Will Hold Series Meetings

Mr. Roper speaks at Ardmore and St. Paul Monday; at Ryley on Tuesday, and Hardisty Lake and Galahad Wednesday. On Thursday, July 27, he speaks at Coronation; Friday, Brooks; Saturday, Irvine and Edizkum; Monday, July 31, Milk River and Raymond; Aug. 1, Waterton Lakes and Cardston; Aug. 2, Drumheller; Aug. 4, Tofield; Aug. 5, Rochford Bridge; and Aug. 7, Winterburn.

Harold E. Winch, leader of the CCF in British Columbia, will speak in Edmonton next Friday and Saturday. He is now on a speaking tour in Southern Alberta.

Strangely enough, it seems that the effect of the war is felt even at the card table, where strange results occur more frequently now than ever before. Some of our experts at the tournament next week may go down even more than the dealer did on today's hand.

East played the four of diamonds on the opening lead, and West construed this play as requesting a shift to the lowest ranking suit. He then led the seven of clubs and East won all seven club tricks, and returned a diamond. West had meanwhile discarded all his losers in the major suits, so East and West took all the tricks. South scored down 3000 points, while at spades, where the hand should have been played, the penalty would have been only one trick.

Personal Health Service

RHEUMATIC FEVER AND HEART VALVES

There is a popular misapprehension that some kind of damage to the heart is likely to occur in any case of so-called rheumatism, whatever that may be.

In the serious illness of children and adolescents (less commonly in adults) properly called acute infectious arthritis but known to the old timers and to shrewd practitioners today as "rheumatic fever," the chief danger is that the Streptococcus or Pneumococcus that causes the inflammation of joint or joints and the fever may lodge in the lining of the heart and produce inflammation of the lining membrane (endocarditis) and, if the inflammation happens to involve the area of a heart valve, perhaps distort the valve so it will not close perfectly, and that means valvular disease, valvular leakage, which is usually permanent, although with intelligent care the heart will in the course of months or years enlarge hypertrophy sufficiently to pump more than the normal quantity of blood at each beat and thus compensate for the leakage and maintain efficient circulation.

Yes, sir, I confess I am horribly conscious of the preposterous length of the foregoing sentence, but, ding it, I haven't the space to chop it up into short sentences.

Heart valves are folds or flaps of the serous membrane that lines the heart—a membrane similar to the membrane that lines the joints. The valve most frequently damaged by such Streptococcus or Pneumococcus lodgment is the mitral valve. This valve of two cusps or leaves opens to permit blood to flow from the auricle, to which the blood has come from the lungs freshly aerated or oxygenized or purified, into the left ventricle; and then closes to prevent backflow or leakage of the blood when the heart beats or contracts to pump the blood out into the great artery (aorta).

The competent physician attending a patient with acute infectious arthritis or "rheumatic fever" listens to the heart at every visit for any sign of development of this complication. It is in the hope of preventing such lodgment of the germs which circulate in the blood stream that the physician orders complete rest for the patient with acute infectious arthritis and incidentally it is for the same reason that physicians advise complete rest in bed in various minor illnesses in which such involvement of the heart lining or valves may occur—for instance in acute tonsillitis, quinsy, scarlet fever, septic throat and the early stages of chorea (St. Vitus's dance).

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The tiny baby, with rolls of fat where his neck should be and his soft skin so susceptible to irritations, is the chief sufferer from prickly heat.

Prickly heat is no longer so commonplace a summer annoyance as it was in the days when a bit of wool was a supposedly essential part of the baby's attire. One looks back with horror at the way babies used to have to suffer in summer, just because the mother feared so terribly, the sight of his uncovered flesh.

The baby of today does his summer wardrobe when the temperature goes into the eighties. That wardrobe is limited to an adequate pair of clean diapers or a small pair of panties when he has graduated from diapers. If the winds blow cold, his mother puts on more clothes, otherwise day and night he wears only this essential garment and cloths sweetly and coolly because of it.

When a baby develops prickly heat his mother must feel herself to blame. That rough, prickly rash under baby's chin or under arms or in groin, where the flesh folds touch each other, can be so irritating to baby. He can't rub it, as he might wish, but he can cry—and does.

Sponge baths will help. Have the water lukewarm and add some common starch to it, or a tablespoon of baking soda. Dab this on the baby's skin and let it dry on the prickly heat. This cools the baby's body and allows the irritation, Calomine lotion is always soothing when there is any sort of rash.

After his warm bath in the morning, powder the baby carefully, not great chunks of powder thrown on him, but a smooth coat between these touching areas.

To keep the baby comfortable is to give his spirits a boost and keep his disposition sweet. The hot, over-

Bombers Collide At U.S. Air Show

As 100,000 Watch

SPOKANE, Wash., July 24.—(AP)—Three of three attack bombers diving into an amphitheatre at Spokane Air Service Command war show collided and crashed yesterday as a crowd estimated at 100,000 by Major Arthur F. Spaeth, public relations officer, watched.

The planes were part of the parade of the various types in front of the crowd. As the types or groups of types came in they dived down to a level with the crowd and only a few hundred feet out from the great mass of people.

The three planes peeled off and two of them tangled as they made an attack manoeuvre. The ships sailed to the plain below the crowd.

Four men were killed in the crash. Their names were withheld.

German Soldiers Surrender After Officers Desert

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES

IN FRANCE, July 24.—(CP)—Five German soldiers, who said their officers had deserted after telling them there was a revolution in Germany, crossed the Canadian lines near Fleury-sur-Orne Saturday night and gave themselves up to a lone machine-gunner.

The men were a company sergeant-major, a corporal and three privates, and a staff officer at a Canadian headquarters said they were "honest-to-goodness Germans—not foreign conscripts."

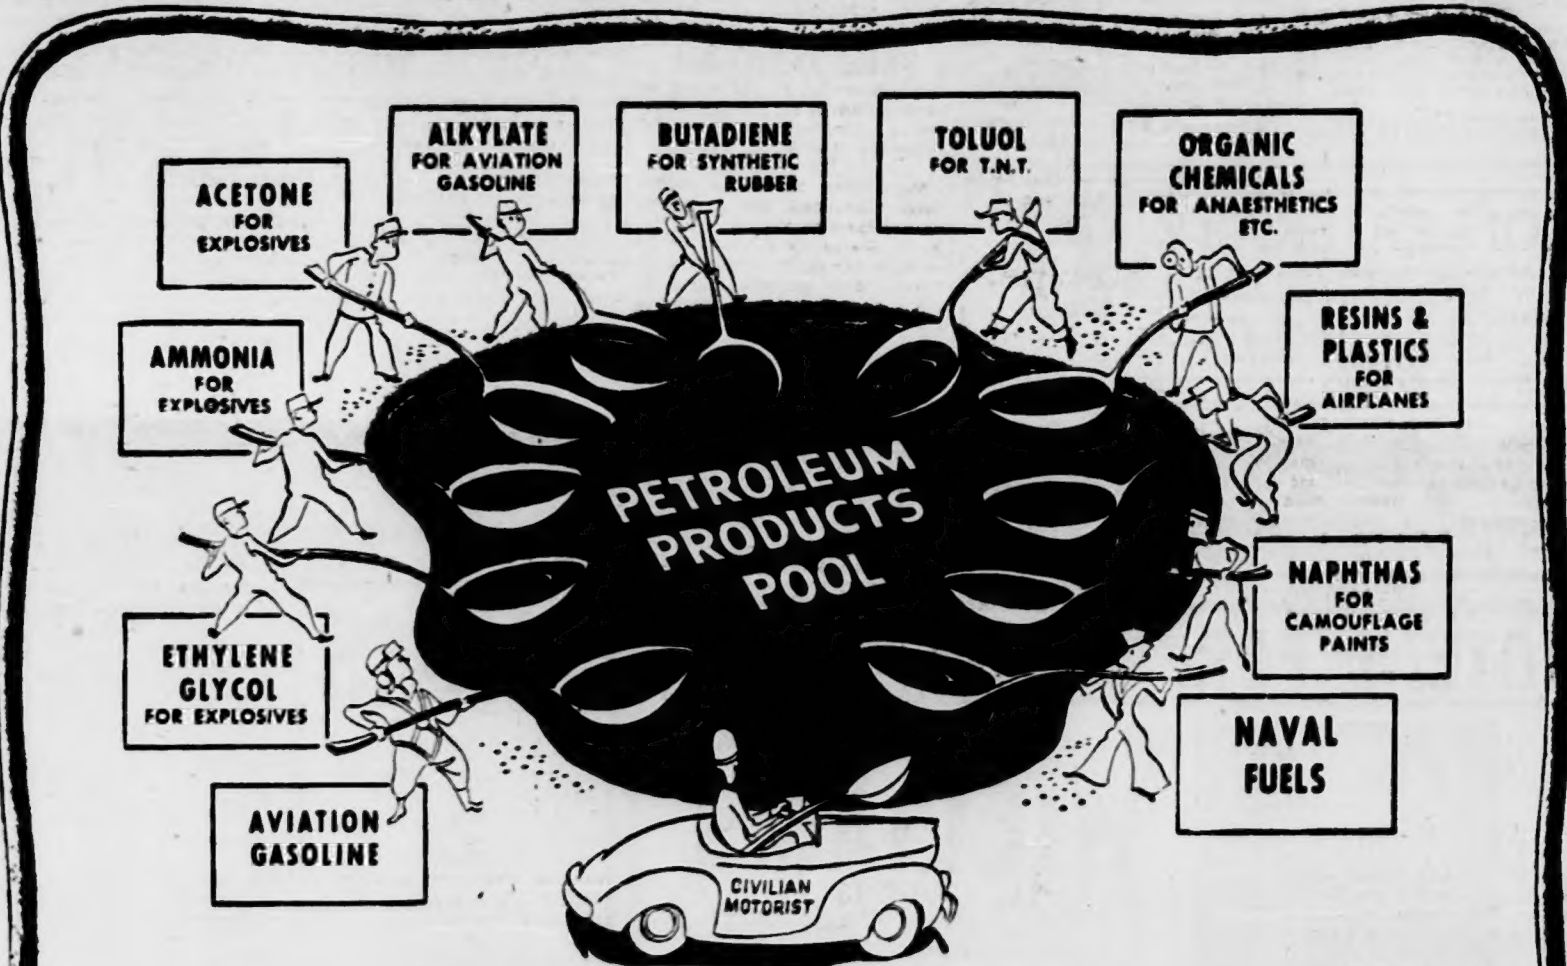

The officer said there was evidence that other German officers have deserted their men and that one group of Germans is known to be hiding out in a cellar waiting until the Canadians can reach them so that they can surrender.

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

WHEN war demands have been filled... when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for war industry, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply—it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,250,000 gallons of gasoline to fuel 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

From petroleum and petroleum gases we obtain the gasoline and fuels needed to power planes and ships and tanks as well as the raw material for acetone, ammonia and toluol for explosives, organic chemicals for anaesthetics, naphthas for camouflage paints and plastics and resins for war weapons production.

This is why civilian gasoline is short. This is why it's up to every motorist, to every owner of an oil-heated home, to exercise the strictest economy in gasoline or fuel oil usage. Every gallon we can do without here at home is one gallon more for the fighting men. And they need every gallon they can get.

Two full years of gasoline rationing and fuel oil control in Canada have saved 393,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 175 million gallons of fuel oil—a total saving of 568,000,000 gallons of petroleum products. Yet, despite this saving, gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the commencement of rationing, April 1, 1942.

Oil has a mighty war job to do—yet supplies are short and are constantly dwindling. Oil powers the attack on every front. Oil can mean the difference between success or failure, between light casualty lists and heavy. Oil is vital ammunition—not to be wasted, not to be needlessly, frivolously spent.

NO. 4 OF A SERIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS ISSUED BY THE

HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, MINISTER

Answering YOUR QUESTIONS about the GASOLINE SHORTAGE

What are Canada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline? ... Approximately 800,000,000 gallons. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian needs? ... Yes. Why cannot this supply be increased? ... Because total hemispheric supplies are inadequate to meet both the colossal war demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, there are not enough tankers, for both. How much of Canada's petroleum needs is supplied from Canadian wells? ... Only 15% Why can't this home production be increased? ... Every effort is being made to do so. More new wells are being drilled or prepared for drilling, than at any time in the history of Western Canada, but we have yet to find a new Turner Valley. War does not wait for new production.

Mary Barbara Mason Bride Of James Donald LaZerte

Tall white candles cast a soft glow over the interior of All Saints' Cathedral Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Mary Barbara Mason, younger daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Mason, of Edmonton, and James Donald LaZerte, of Calgary, eldest son of Dr. M. E. LaZerte, dean of the faculty of education at the University of Alberta, and Mrs. LaZerte, also of this city. Tall standards of double white delphinium with fern and cedar green banded the chancel rail, and the guest pews were marked by matching bouquets tied with bows of white tulle. The Rev. W. W. Burton officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white magic crepe fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, elbow-length sleeves, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt ending in a court-length train. The skirt was gathered with tiny nosegays of white sweetpeas, white daisies and scarlet carnations. Her bridal veil of illusion net, hung in soft folds from a sweetheart coronet of crepe, matching her dress edged with the same scroll trimming that outlined the neckline and sleeves of her dress. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetpeas, white daisies and scarlet carnations.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. John Evans Bicknell, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and the bride's only attendant. She wore a slipper-length gown of heavy brocade taffeta in light red and white checked pattern made along the same lines as that of the bride's. The bouffant skirt was caught with tiny bouquets of white sweet peas and daisies. Her pill-box hat of matching taffeta had a chapel-length veil of white net, and she carried a fan of white sweet peas and daisies and scarlet carnations.

WEDDING MUSIC
Wedding music was played by Vernon Barford, and during the signing of the register Miss Bernice McBeth sang "Oh Day of Golden Promise."

After the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at the Garneau home of the bride's parents. To receive Mrs. Mason were a floor-length gown of Queen's blue crepe, featuring gold bead embroidery on the jacket and a shoulder corsage of gardenias and sweetheart roses. To complete her ensemble she wore a Gainsborough model hat of navy felt, and navy accessories.

Mrs. LaZerte, mother of the bridegroom, chose a floor-length gown of dove gray crepe with a petal pink moire taffeta jacket. Her corsage was of gardenias and blue cornflowers, and she wore a small hat of rose straw to match her frock.

Centering the bride's table, which was laid with an ecru lace cloth, was a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by tall white tapers set in white tulle and sprays of white sweet peas. Tall standards of blue and white delphinium, pastel sweep peas and snapdragons were used throughout the house.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Brother Azarias.

TRIP TO BANFF

For their honeymoon trip to Banff, the bride changed to a tailored suit of heaven blue feather-weight flannel trimmed with quilting on lapels and pockets. New Recipe!

Make your own chocolate syrup with cocoa. Easy on sugar, easy to make.

Take 1/2 cup of cocoa and 1/2 cup of sugar. Mix well together dry. Slowly add 1/2 cup of boiling water stirring meanwhile. Boil for one minute. Then pour into a clean dry glass jar. Cover and let cool. Keep this tasty chocolate syrup handy in the ice box, ready for instant use.

IDEAL FOR DESSERTS

Many women say this new recipe is just the very thing they've been looking for, and you too will be delighted with the many ways you can use it to improve desserts, etc. For instance, you'll find it most appetizing as a hot or cold sauce on ice cream and on desserts, and it's especially delicious for making chocolate milk.

In many cases accompanied by units heads, troops from Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat, and many other points in the province marched from Calgary during the day and took up quarters in the tented city which will be their home for the next two weeks.

At nightfall camp headquarters was unable to give a complete check on total camp strength but estimated it at more than 1,000 members of the reserve army in addition to 900 Royal Canadian army cadets who are enjoying 10 days of summer training which will conclude Wednesday.

In Mediterranean

Germans Wiped Out
In Raid on Island

By RICHARD G. MARSOCK

CAIRO, July 24.—(AP)—Young British and Greek shock troops, intent on disrupting supply lines in the Germans' hungry "iron ring" of Aegean Islands, wiped out the entire garrison of Simi Island near Rhodes in a raid, it was disclosed yesterday.

Fifteen German and Italian troops were killed and more than 150 captured in what was described as one of the most daring and successful raids ever undertaken in the eastern Mediterranean.

The swoop upon Simi, tiny island off the Turkish coast north of Rhodes, was disclosed as reports increased that Turkey might be veering toward war against Germany.

The raiders, striking by night on July 13-14, exacted revenge for the loss of Simi last October. The island was one of the first to fall as British troops were pushed from the string of stepping-stone Aegean islands seized by the Allies shortly after the collapse of Italy.

All military installations and equipment on Simi were destroyed before the raiders escaped "with very slight losses," an official announcement said.

The British-Greek commandos aimed at cutting communications and fraying the nerves of the Dodecanese Island garrisons which long have been on short rations because of inroads on shipping by rocket-firing Beaufighters and light British warships.

Leaving R.C.A.F.

Lt. George "Buzz" Beurling, Canada's foremost aerial ace, who has resigned his commission in the R.C.A.F. and will be returning to civilian life in three weeks.

"Buzz" Beurling
Leaving R.C.A.F.

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—Lt. George (Buzz) Beurling, Canada's leading air ace from Verdun, Que., will be a civilian and a war veteran at 22 in three weeks.

That's how long it will take to complete the formalities launched Saturday when the R.C.A.F. announced approval of the Maltese Falcon's request that he be permitted to resign his commission "to facilitate his rehabilitation in civil life."

There was no immediate statement from Buzz himself on his future but the official air force station indicated a civilian aviation post was in prospect. It spoke of his rehabilitation to civil life, his desire to obtain permanent employment, and said certain opportunities for civilian employment had been made available to him.

However, there was a report from Montreal that Buzz was considering offering his services to the Chinese air force. It is known he didn't like instructional work in Canada. He has emphatically told a Canadian Press reporter on many occasions that he did not relish the idea of some day piloting a commercial transport on peaceful air routes and he described this as "truck driving."

53,000 Germans
Said Casualties
On British Front

By ROGER D. GREENE
ON THE ORNE RIVER FRONT IN NORMANDY, July 24.—(AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel suffered more than 53,000 casualties, including 10,409 prisoners, on the British front since D-day, a British staff officer estimated yesterday.

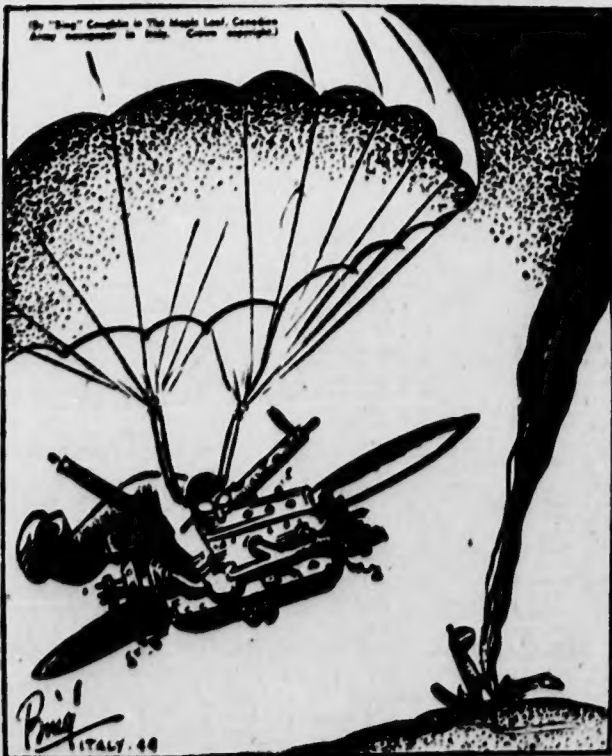

Several hundred Nazi tanks definitely have been destroyed, the officer said, in the campaign to shatter Germany's perimeter of defences in western Europe.

"We are playing the German first team, and we shall be going on," a senior staff officer told correspondents at the same conference. "German formations are certainly under-strength but they are extraordinarily well equipped and are fighting hard."

Recapitulating the results of the latest offensive east of the Orne, the senior staff officer declared it was "the most successful operation since D-day," and added that the lightning assault on the long-dormant sector across the river "caught the Hun napping."

Japan's government shakeup, Tsuruo Kamemitsu will act as president of the society until a permanent chief is named.

CCF Is Hoping To Stir People
Over Resources

The CCF deliberately is making big promises in the provincial general election campaign in the hope of stirring the Alberta people to a "realization of what proper use of our resources could mean to us and what the post war period holds for us if we have the vision and determination," Clifford E. Lee, CCF candidate in Edmonton, told meetings at North Edmonton and King Edward Park Community hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. Lee was one of four CCF city candidates who spoke at these meetings, the others being J. E. Enright, J. H. Dowler and Mrs. F. C. Butterworth.

Mr. Lee stated that "Our oil, coal, timber and other resources developed publicly with the aim of high standards of living for all our people can mean a life of abundance. Developed by private interests for their own profit these resources mean little to the average man in Alberta."

"Just developing resources does not mean prosperity. If they are developed by private interests the wealth goes to private interests instead of the people as a whole."

FOR THE FEW

"If great development of resources by private interests was the important thing, Quebec would have the highest standards of living in Canada. Their resources are developed to the highest degree in Canada. But the standard of living of that province is the lowest in Canada because the development has been for the profit of a few rather than the welfare of many."

"The CCF is making a bold stand on this issue in Alberta. Social Credit is backed by the reactionary newspapers, by the Liberals and the Tories because the position of the government of Alberta is identical in this respect with the interests of the big shots. The CCF is determined to make the resources pay for important social services, free health, higher pensions and other allowances, better roads for Alberta people."

"An expert has said Turner Valley oil will only last eight more years. If the Social Credit government stays in office, the Imperial Oil and other such corporations will complete the steal of our oil and we will be left in eight years with only the title to the lands with empty holes on them."

GOVERNMENT BRAGS

"This government brags that each year oil production has increased in Alberta. This only means that they have given away our oil faster than any previous government."

"In 1942, twenty oil companies got seven million dollars in profits while the government got three-quarters of a million in royalties. One company alone through the years has made profits of over 26 million dollars."

"It hasn't been the little fellows who got the profits, 1,400 little companies went broke while the big oil interests made the millions. The 1,400 bankrupt companies were the ones ordinary people put their money in. They were out to make a killing in promoting stock. They never had a chance at the good oil sites and the only reason they dug a hole in the ground at all was to inveigle ordinary people to put up the sucker money."

The day a CCF government comes to power, it will cancel the leases on oil lands to private companies. It will develop oil properties as a public enterprise and use the profits for the people of Alberta."

Mr. Enright said that opponents of the CCF in Saskatchewan learned that slinging mud was so much lost ground.

He asked his listeners to compare the unselfish records of the CCF candidates in community affairs with those of the Social Credit candidates.

RETURNED MAN

Mr. Dowler spoke as a returned man from the last war. He told of conditions of unemployment which the men came back to. He said the CCF was the only hope of preventing the same thing from happening again. He said the soldiers know that is true. He quoted statistics to show that whenever they have had a chance during this war to vote they have indicated a heavy preference for the CCF. He said this is the reason the government took steps that in this election the soldiers overseas can only influence the result in three out of 60 seats, and will not be allowed to indicate a preference for any party. Mr. Dowler said this constituted shameful treatment of our fighting men who are thus denied a chance to influence the kind of Alberta they will return to.

Mrs. Butterworth spoke on the public health and education policies of the CCF.

She said the present government has made some advances in this field in nine years but that it was not true Alberta was far ahead of the rest of Canada.

GIVES FIGURES

She quoted statistics to show traditional standards of Alberta are bad. She said serious illness still crippled people financially for years. She said the stress should be on the prevention of illness. She said the CCF stands for complete free health services. This meant free hospital, doctor, and dentists services.

She said Alberta cannot claim to be progressive in education as long as it remains true that the rich man's son has greater educational opportunities than the poor man's son. She said the CCF proposed genuine free education to those who had the capacity regardless of ability to pay.

Two U.S. war correspondents, H. W. Fenwick of the Denver Post and George Peterson, Minneapolis Star Journal, were in Edmonton Monday making arrangements for a trip into the northwest.
